6,000 NEW JOBS TO COME FROM AIRPORT PLAN

By Pat Higgins

southend@yellowad.co.uk

PROPOSALS have been approved for a new business park near Southend Airport to generate 6,000 jobs.

A government inspector gave the green light to plans from Southend and Rochford Councils, which will also bring a further 1,000 jobs directly related to the airport, this week.

The Inspector approved the proposals after examining a list of modifications put forward by the two authorities in response to feedback from stakeholders. Now work could start on construction in 2016.

The plan includes policies for developing the airport and new business space, together with environmental enhancements, transport improvements and regeneration proposals.

Now that the inspector has given the go-ahead to the plan – known formally as the London Southend Airport and Environs Joint Area Action Plan (JAAP) – both councils can now put it forward for formal adoption.

Earlier this month, Southend Council announced it had selected Henry Boot Developments as its preferred joint development partner.

The authorities are now working with Henry Boot to devise a master plan for the area, hoping to submit an outline planning application in the spring.

Ron Woodley, leader of Southend Council, said: "Our proposals with Rochford are a once-in-a-generation opportunity to boost both economies by attracting investment and creating much-needed jobs. We are pleased that the inspector has given this approval so we can press ahead with our plans.

"This is a golden opportunity for the borough, and we will also be working to ensure our policies reflect the skills required and give our young people opportunity to fill these new jobs that will be created."

Keith Hudson, Deputy Leader of Rochford Council and joint chairman of the JAAP committee, said: "It's taken many years to get to this point, and now the inspector has found our plans to be sound, subject to formal adoption by both councils, we can now begin to get the wheels in motion.

"These proposals should create at least 7,000 jobs for the local economy and have already been instrumental in securing funding for improvements to the A127 through the South East Local Enterprise Partnership (SELEP).

"I hope we can now move forward quickly and see the economic growth that is much needed and will benefit our society."

The facts...

- December 8 – JAAP committee meeting to discuss the way forward
- December 9 – Southend Council's cabinet to consider agreeing to adopt plan
- December 11 – Southend Council's place scrutiny committee to scrutinise plan
- December 11 – Southend Council's full council to consider formal adoption of plan
- December 16 – Rochford Council full council meeting to consider formal adoption of plan
- Spring 2015 – Subject to the necessary adoption, Southend-on-Sea Borough Council, as developer, to submit an outline planning application to Rochford District Council
- 2016 – proposed start on site

Appeal to unknown victims of paedophile

POLICE believe a serial paedophile may have abused children in care homes across Essex and London.

The Metropolitan Police's child abuse unit has appealed for victims to come forward and report attacks by John Cowan, 72, of Littlebourne in Lewisham.

Cowan – known by the nickname 'Jock' – was jailed for eight years last week over historic child sex abuse.

He committed the offences while working at an Ealing children's home, but lived in Chelmsford at the time of the attacks.

Police said he had worked in care homes around the country, including Essex, and it was 'highly likely' that there were more victims yet to report their abuse.

Jurors convicted Cowan after hearing he had 24 prior convictions for child sex abuse.

In 1994 he was jailed for 12-and-a-half years over 16 child sex abuse charges and ordered to sign the Sex Offenders Register for life.

He worked as a house father at the Ealing home for two years between 1971 and 1973, while living in Essex.

His offending there came to light in January 2013, when a woman attended Shepherds Bush police station to report having been sexually assaulted when she was seven or eight years old.

She told police Cowan had abused her in the attic at the children's home.

A police probe uncovered five more victims.

Cowan abused five girls aged between five and ten, and one boy, who was six years old.

A Metropolitan Police spokesman said: "The male victim described how on more than one occasion Cowan had taken him from his bed, saying the boy needed the toilet. Once inside the bathroom, Cowan sexually assaulted him."

Cowan was arrested in July 2013. He was jailed last Thursday at Harrow Crown Court for ten counts of historic indecent assault and one count of gross indecency.

Investigating officer DC Cathy

Hewitson, from the Met's Child Abuse Investigation Team in Northwood, said: "Cowan took advantage of his senior position at the home to abuse a number of vulnerable children, the majority of whom had already suffered heartache and trauma in their short lives and should have been in a trusted environment. I praise the courage of the victims in coming forward and reliving this very difficult period in their lives, forced to give evidence in open court by Cowan's refusal to admit his crimes.

"Cowan worked in a number of children's homes in Essex, London and Scotland from the 1970s onwards. It is highly likely there are other victims out there who perhaps have felt too scared to come forward before or thought there was little point given the passage of time. This conviction proves it is not too late to bring Cowan to justice and I would ask anyone with information to contact us in confidence."

Anyone with information can con-

Former library to be business hub

WORK has started on a major project to transform the second and third floors of Southend's former library into a business incubation hub.

Southend Council has appointed local contractor A.W Hardy & Co to carry out the work, which includes building an initial nine flexible incubation units, at least 34 hot desks and shared meeting and conference space.

Contractors are hoping to get all of the construction work completed before next spring.

The £651,325 for the project is coming from a grant the council successfully secured from central Government's City Deal Fund last year.

Executive councillor for enterprise tourism and economic regeneration, Graham Longley, said the town had an encouragingly high business start up rate.

Mr Longley said: "The new incubation hub will provide flexible space at reasonable rates for these fledgling businesses, and will nurture them with the right environment and support to give them every chance of becoming the major employers of tomorrow."

"Furthermore, as they grow, these businesses may wish to move into the new commercial space we have planned at the Airport Business Park as part of our Joint Area Action Plan with Rochford District Council.

"Southend has an amazing entrepreneurial spirit, enviable connections to our capital and a growing number of European destinations via our international airport.

"It's a great place to work, live and play and we will not be shy on selling this unique proposition to attract entrepreneurs, both home grown and from further afield, with the courage and vision to become part of our town's unfolding renaissance." This is the second phase of work to redevelop the former library.

The first phase involved converting the basement, ground floor and first floors into gallery spaces to house the Beecroft Art Collection.

Space at the Incubation Hub will be very flexible, offering opportunities for hot-desking up to renting more formal office space.

The council's "Business Southend" team will also be relocating to the Incubation Hub, it will offer unrivalled access to business support services."

Anyone interested in finding out more about space at the Incubation Hub should contact the economic development team on economic@southend.gov.uk or call 01702 215022.

● FOOD businesses in the Borough are being offered support by the Council to prepare for new rules aimed at protecting allergy sufferers.

Currently, when supermarket bakeries, delis, cafes and restaurants sell loose food, they don't have to provide information to customers about food allergens.

However, from Thursday, December 13, all food businesses will need to verbally explain or signpost allergenic information for food they are selling.

New rules mean all food businesses will need to inform customers if any of the 14 allergenic ingredients are in the food they serve.

Easy to understand information is available on <http://www.food.gov.uk/science/allergy-intolerance>

● SOUTHEM Council has called a special meeting to review the performance of train operator Abellio Greater Anglia and its proposals for improving services.

At the meeting that will be held on Thursday, December 4, Abellio Greater Anglia's head of corporate affairs, Jonathan Denby and stakeholder manager, Paul Oxley, will present an update on their franchise and outline their future plans.

This will be followed by a period for councillors to ask any questions.

If anyone would like to put forward a question email cllrflawitt@southend.gov.uk

The meeting will be held at 7pm in the Seacole Room, the Tickfield Centre, Tickfield Industrial Centre, Tickfield Avenue, Southend.

Women's Institute baton reaches Southend

CENTENARY celebrations for the Women's Institute (WI) came to Southend last Friday.

The celebrations came in the form of a baton that has been travelling the country since the beginning of the year.

It was launched from Anglesey where the first WI meeting was held in 1915.

The baton has travelled throughout the country and hit Essex last week, it will complete its journey at the WI's centenary meeting in June 2015 at the Royal Albert Hall in London.

The design of the baton enables each federation of the WI to upload 12 selected photos to a memory stick stored in it to represent their members and local area.

Photos will then be shared on social media to keep everyone in touch and follow its progress across the country.

Sue MacEwen, from the Essex Federation said it was exciting to be part of the first centenary project to celebrate WI.

She said: "We hope to see as many members at the events as possible, to celebrate that it offers the chance to learn new skills, campaign on issues that are important to us at every level, and make life-long friends."

Ofsted joy for nursery at hospital

A NURSERY run and managed by Southend Hospital has been rated as good in an Ofsted report.

Ladybird Nursery, based in a converted house next to the hospital, is open all year and provides childcare, learning and play for 90 children, aged three months to four.

Lynda Bartholomew, nursery manager, said she was thrilled for staff and parents of children.

She said: "We have a dedicated and committed team here, so it is great to see all of our efforts recognised in this way."

In the report inspectors said children and babies make good progress in their learning and development because staff use effective teaching strategies and plan interesting activities that cover each area of learning.

Inspectors added: "Safeguarding procedures are robust and rigorous and promote the safety and welfare of children that attend."

"Children and babies develop strong bonds with their key person and, as a result, they make secure emotional attachments that promote their well being."

"Positive and well established relationships between staff and parents, external agencies and local schools ensures that children's individual needs are fully understood and effectively met."

Community heroes

SOUTHEND YMCA has celebrated the achievements of young people.

Youth Awards were presented to young people who took part in projects and overcome challenging backgrounds.

Winners were presented with their trophies by Southend YMCA staff at the Park View Suite, Chalkwell Park.

The awards also saw the launch of a new magazine Voice of Youth (VOYCE) which was created by 10 young people on the Youth Exchange project.

Awards organiser Jane Dolby said: "We help more than 2,000 young people a year rebuild confidence, overcome trauma and make new friends through our arts and sports projects and education provision.

"We house around 30 young people who may be homeless without our support, offer CV and confidence building opportunities to unemployed young people and even have an annual

"All our projects are freely available and we want to be able to help as many young people as possible.

"Bullying, unemployment, poverty, mental health challenges and abuse know no boundaries and can affect children from any background and any area.

We are here to help and support any youngster who needs us."

Chief executive of Southend YMCA Syrie Cox, who could not attend the event because she was in Europe working on the development of a new cultural program, said the organisation was always striving to engage young people.

She said: "We want to help those young people who may not have had the easiest of starts, but with support and encouragement go on to become happy fulfilled adults and belong, contribute and thrive."

The event marked the 70th birthday of Ron Wright, who was presented with a special award for his lifetime's service to improving the lives of young people. It also celebrated the 89th birthday of Gerald Melish, one of Southend YMCA's founders. For more information about Southend YMCA visit www.southendymca.org.uk or call 01702 301301.

24/100 CHALLENGE: Fundraisers Jenny MacPherson and Sabi Blyth urge YOU to take on the 24/100 challenge

Fundraising push for Air Ambulance

ESSEX Air Ambulance is calling on people in Southend to take part in a brand new fundraising initiative in March 2015.

The charity is looking for bold and adventurous people of the town to choose an activity of their choice and raise £100 in 24 hours, on Saturday, March 7.

The activity for the 24/100 challenge could be skydiving, a vintage fashion sale, a cupcake decorating competition or a pie eating contest.

Carly Duffett, head of fundraising for the Air Ambulance Trust, said she was hoping people would relish the challenge and have fun raising money.

She said: "It's open to all ages and abilities from encouraging young children to sell their loom bands through to donating a percentage of your invoices paid that day.

"Not forgetting it's for a really good cause as you will help to keep our highly trained pilots, pre hospital care doctors and critical care paramedics saving lives in the county."

To take up the challenge and register visit EssexAirAmbulance.uk.com

All pictures taken by our award-winning photographers are available to buy online.

STARS: Members of the council's Fulfilling Lives A Better Start Project team receive the Mayor's Award from Mayor Cllr Chris Walker

Council honours its shining stars

COUNCIL staff who go the extra mile have been honoured at a special ceremony.

They received accolades at the council's annual Stars Awards held at Southend Leisure and Tennis centre which celebrates the authority's unsung heroes and heroines.

The teams and individuals were chosen from 400 nominations made by the public, councillors and colleagues.

Chief executive Rob Tinlin said the Stars Awards celebrated the best of what the authority could achieve as an organisation.

Mr Tinlin said: "Every staff member nominated has gone that extra mile to help the people of Southend and to deliver our goal in creating a better Southend."

"We are recognised as an authority which delivers consistently high-quality services, often in quite innovative ways, in the face of huge challenges such as increasing demand and reducing resources.

"This is down mainly to the excellence of our staff and their commitment to the community."

Council leader Ron Woodley, said standards throughout the council were high. He said: "We are extremely pleased that so many other organisations want to be associated with the council and with our Stars Awards and we are also very grateful to those who generously sponsor the awards."

"Without their support finance, it would not be possible to hold this event."

The Mayor's Award, sponsored by Civica, went to the Fulfilling Lives A Better Start Project team. It put together Southend's Big Lottery bid and having secured £40million over 10 years to benefit the area's young and most vulnerable children its work continues.

Gallery stages Sorrell show

WORKS: Curator Claire Reed with one of Alan Sorrell's pictures

A NEW exhibition at the Beecroft Art Gallery will showcase an internationally renowned artist whose early promise was nurtured in Southend.

The work of Alan Sorrell can be seen at the gallery in the former Southend Central Library building, in Victoria Avenue, until April.

Sorrell (1904-1974) originally trained at Southend School of Art, which at the time was at the top of High Street, on a site now occupied by Sainsbury's and Southend Odeon.

He studied at the Royal College of Art before winning a scholarship to the British School at Rome in 1928.

The artist, whose work features different mediums and subjects, regularly visited the Beecroft and exhibited there from the 1950s until his death.

Sorrell was renowned for his reconstruction drawings of ancient sites, shown as they appeared in their heyday.

Councillor for enterprise, tourism and economic development, Graham Longley, said he was grateful to the Sorrell family, Liss Fine Art Ltd and to private lenders for helping with the show.

Opinion and readers' letters

Government out of touch on our debt

CHUKKA Umunna on BBC Question Time spouting rubbish that we need the high levels of immigration in this country because our national health service will collapse without them because they have skills that our own people do not have and they do jobs that we will not do.

This exposes Chukka's complete lack of understanding and absence of historical knowledge and perfectly displays why we are in this downward spiral of debt, greed, waste and false over dependency on immigrant labour.

Successive mollycoddling weak Governments have encouraged British laziness syndrome, an over reliance on the nanny state, rewarding laziness with easy benefits.

These out of touch, "I'm all right Jack" governments have removed free educational processes out of the reach of normal working people who can no longer afford to learn and achieve high level jobs as scientists, doctors, engineers, teachers.

Successive generations have been systematically demoralised. Past governments have destroyed the educational fabric, culture, pride and discipline that produced world leading British standards and the world's best tradesmen.

No more do we turn out swathes of innovative entrepreneurial young people who strive for betterment and hunger for achievement. Greedy elite political establishments and fat cat bankers have served only themselves for the past 60 years, bringing this country to its knees in debt, inflicting the misery of inept education on its own people.

Killing our kids in recent wars that we have no right in fighting, dictating to other nations our false democratic standards.

The only way to repair the UK is with tough love, it is time for a new awakening. No more nanny state, easy benefits or unqualified school leavers, no more importing workers to do jobs that our own people can do with positive encouragement and meaningful training. No more limp-wrist discipline forcing society into kowtowing to recidivist criminals who laugh at us.

There is a place for all races, creeds and cultures in the UK, based on a controlled, intelligent immigration policy that harvests the best skills the world has to offer, but only if our own population do not have the skills or we can't train them.

We should offer sanctuary to the persecuted. As the grandson of Irish and Jew I see how immigration has enriched this country, but we can't house the whole world here.

So let's not be afraid to freely speak sense, or stand up for our future, or to remove those who plot our downfall, or punish law breakers with hard labour, long sentences and rehabilitate them back into contributing to society.

Let's encourage industriousness, discourage intolerance, generously reward the life-savers, peacekeepers and idolise carers of the old and infirm, not greedy bankers, piggy politicians, materialistic footballers and talentless foul mouthed egotistic celebrities.

It's not rocket science, its common sense. Wake up, its time for a new, fairer method of Government.

Shoeburyness

The cost of Labour's achievements

IT really is a curious case of myopia, but all those "achievements" D. Bodimeade lists in his letter last week - as legislated into being by the Labour Party - cost billions of pounds annually.

Of course, none of them are paid for by the Labour politicians ... and there is an "administration fee". Various "gifts" are magnanimously redistributed despite being paid for from the money (value) created by the very people, that are supposed to be the happy recipients. It is always those, who expect something for nothing, that get ripped off. After some 800 years, I truly wish we would finally put an end to this Robin Hood mentality - to redistribute other people's property - but most of all, we should prevent all these Champagne socialists from getting their grubby little hands into the public coffers, while bamboozling covetous "innocents". So, while the socialists claim, that all those travesties of justice are for the benefit of the working people, this could not be farther from the truth. They are just making us pay for the luxury of their "compassion".

Fred Nicholson
Westcliff

Cameron playing with fire

AT the onset of the Syrian uprising, with Assad massacring his people I felt this nation as a whole wished to bring about the elimination of the regime.

By the same token a number of Muslims felt the need to assist their fellows by bringing them relief and in some cases joining them in their fight against the murderous regime. I am reminded of the heroes' welcome that greeted so many of our people when they returned from the Spanish Civil War, having fought against the fascists under Franco.

However, Cameron, with his policy of one size fits all, has decided to mete out punishment on all, not just those who went to form part of ISIS but also those who went with humanitarian reasons.

In consequence not only will such action antagonise those wishing to return but also their loving families, with the prospects of alienation in the future.

Les Harrington Benfleet

Just not enough space

WHO'S to blame for this housing crisis?

Did this and previous governments ever think their open door policy would come back to haunt them?

Telling the elderly to downsize their properties won't solve it, nor will the extra room tax, or building more houses.

The only way is to stop immigration. That's not racist, it just makes sense.

We come top of the list to give safe havens for asylum seekers, we are generous to many charities, giving millions in overseas aid.

We are not short of giving aid to all sorts of disasters, what we are short of is space! There is precious little of it, that should be evident to the government, as it is to the majority of this country who pay tax.

Christmas in Clifftown Rd Southend

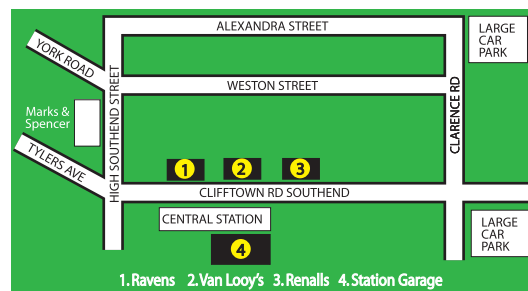

A street packed with independent traders offers the ideal location for everything you need this Christmas from gifts for your loved ones to getting ready for that all important festive night out.

Christmas is big in Clifftown Road, Southend, as traders offer an individual service to their shoppers, which they say is much more personal than the bigger department stores. Del Gaisford, owner of Renalls Jewellers and Pawnbrokers said, "We are all individual retailers in the street offering that little bit more than the bigger chains. If you go to a national chain, you can't ask for a deal there because they have to phone their head office. We on the other hand can as we are all independent traders."

Renalls is the oldest established jewellers in Essex having first opened its doors in 1890, and has seen many changes in the area including surviving through two World Wars. The premises offers huge savings on High Street stores, diamond set jewellery from £10 to £10,000, as well as special Sunday opening right up to Christmas – ideal for all those last minute gifts.

Southend's original department store, Ravens, has been offering shoppers an unparalleled choice of menswear, womenswear, ladies shoes and accessories. The store is an Aladdin's cave for gifts over three retail floors, with everything from stocking filler ideas, crystal jewellery and leather goods, to a vast variety of menswear and an ever-increasing selection of contemporary womenswear from top international designers.

Those looking for a traditional meal whilst out shopping can dine at Van Looy's Fish and Chips Restaurant, or take a bite to eat away with them to enjoy at home. The fully licensed restaurant and takeaway offer a range of quality fish as well as other favourites, and has value-for-money offers including a senior citizen deal, a student special and a Sunday roast deal.

With the strain of Christmas shopping trips and festive journeys ahead why not check your car is tip top condition for the winter months. Station Garage is offering a free winter check on tyres, anti-freeze, screenwash and oil for readers producing its advert, and are offering to reset all your warning lights including ABS and airbags, as well as check you engine and service your lights for just £30. With so much to offer Clifftown Road in Southend really is the ideal place to go for everything you need this Christmas.

PHILLY SOUL: The Three Degrees

THE Three Degrees, who feature in the Guinness World Records as the longest-running female vocal group in history, will be appearing at Broadway Theatre, Barking, in February, as part of a 20-date UK tour.

The tour, which kicks-off in Weston-super-Mare in January, sees The Three Degrees celebrating 50 years in the business, and treats audiences to such classics as Gee Baby (I'm Sorry), Maybe, I Do Take You, TSOP (The Sound of Philadelphia), When Will I See You Again, Take Good Care of Yourself and Woman In Love.

Celebrating this milestone are original 1960s members Helen Scott and Valerie Holiday, as well as Freddi Pool, who joined the group in 2011, following Cynthia Garrison's departure due to ill health.

Over the years the trio have become one of the most internationally popular and enduring soul groups in history.

Formed in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1963, The Three Degrees were brought together by veteran writer and producer, Richard Barrett, who produced the band's first hit Gee Baby, for Philadelphia-based record label, Swan Records. With various changes in band personnel, Barrett began the process of moulding the trio into a regional favourite, training them extensively and booking them at record shops and talent contests throughout the US.

In 1970, they signed with the New York-based Roulette Records and had a top five hit with the remake of The Chantels' song Maybe, with Holiday on lead vocals and her unforgettable rap. During this time, the trio made a cameo appearance in the movie The French Connection.

In 1972, the trio signed with Gamble and Huff's acclaimed label Philadelphia International Records. They made an immediate splash with the disco hit Dirty Ol' Man before joining with MFSB (the Philadelphia International house band) to record the Soul Train theme tune, TSOP (The Sound of Philadelphia), which became a number one hit.

The following year, they would record their signature song, the sophisticated ballad, When Will I See You Again, the group's biggest international hit.

Murray's mint

RIOTOUS FORM: Bill Murray

ST VINCENT (12A, 102 mins)

A MODERN-DAY Scrooge is moved by the plight of a young boy in Theodore Melfi's touching and frequently uproarious comedy.

There are neither jingling bells nor ghostly visitations in St Vincent – the only spirits are swigged from a bottle – but Dickens' underlying theme of the redemption of the human spirit rings true in this valentine to Bill Murray.

The Oscar-nominated star of Ghostbusters, Groundhog Day and Lost In Translation is in riotous form in Melfi's delightful film, deploying split-second comic timing to devastating effect as he reveals a beating heart of gold beneath the shambolic appearance of his penny-pinching curmudgeon.

His irascible old coot might gamble, smoke and drink to excess, and seek physical pleasure in the company of a heavily pregnant Russian prostitute, but we fall head over heels for Murray's virtuoso portrayal and it's a love affair that endures the film's occasional lull or sloppy characterisation.

Newcomer Jaeden

Lieberher is magnificent as the spirited tyke, whose innocence and unwavering faith provide a beacon of hope for the self-destructive codger to stumble back into the land of the living.

Writer-director Melfi wrings us dry of laughter and tears in the process.

Vincent (Murray) lives in a ramshackle house in Brooklyn with a pet cat and dreams of the past.

He owes a small fortune to bookie Zucko (Terrence Howard), who is reluctantly threatening to smash Vincent's kneecaps unless fortunes change.

Lady Luck smiles on the sexagenarian loner when struggling single mother Maggie (Melissa McCarthy) and her son Oliver (Lieberher) move in next door and Vincent exploits Maggie to become the lad's babysitter.

"He's sort of cool, in a grouchy sort of way," Oliver assures his mother about his new guardian.

While Maggie works long hours to keep a roof over their head, Vincent introduces Oliver to horse racing, his feisty Russian companion-for-money Daka (Naomi Watts) and an elderly woman with Alzheimer's called Sandy (Donna Mitchell), who he visits at an expensive nursing home.

When Vincent's schoolteacher brother Geraghty (Chris O'Dowd) asks his impressionable charges to deliver a verbal report on someone they consider a 21st century saint, Oliver knows exactly who he wants to canonise.

St Vincent is anchored by Murray's award-worthy performance, but the supporting cast is equally impressive, often in underwritten roles.

McCarthy abandons her usual schtick to embody a mother in crisis and Watts plies a thick cod-eastern European accent as the working girl looking for a break.

O'Dowd scene-steals with aplomb as a holy man with heavenly quips: "I'm a Catholic, which is the best religion because we have the most rules."

Aided by a leading man in rude health, writer-director Melfi doesn't slather on the sentimentality too thick as he exposes glimmers of hope for each dysfunctional character and encourages them to walk towards the light comedy.

Three Degrees and Dickson tours

Releasing one album on Epic Records in 1976, two years later, they teamed up with Giorgio Moroder (of Donna Summer fame), on Ariola Records and a new string of hits helped the threesome to make some of their biggest strides with hits such as Giving Up, Giving In, The Runner, My Simple Heart, and the ballad Woman In Love.

The trio were bigger than ever in the UK, with Prince Charles later proclaiming The Three Degrees were his favourite group and the British press fondly labelling them as "Charlie's Angels".

The trio performed at many charity events hosted by several members of the royal family and in 1978 they were asked to perform at the 30th birthday celebration for Prince Charles at Buckingham Palace. In 1981, they were invited guests at the wedding reception of Diana Spencer and Prince Charles.

Ever since, The Three

Degrees have constantly toured all over the world, occasionally recording but always working.

Holiday said: "For us, it is still exciting and we still enjoy our work."

"We are blessed with a wide age group appeal...from 15 to 65."

Scott goes on to add: "We have opened a lot of doors for other entertainers. In some cases, we may not have always succeeded but we have never given up."

"It still amazes me when we see teenagers singing along with our songs. And yet we still have the fans who have grown with us."

Another artist who has stood the test of time is Barbara Dickson OBE, who is not only a multi-million selling recording artist, but also an Olivier Award-winning actress.

Dickson, who emerged from the Scottish Folk Revival of the 1960s, has returned to her roots once again, after a musical odyssey of 40 years creating music, playing guitar and piano, acting and song-writing.

Something for everyone at museum

WHETHER you like archaeology or animals, ceramics or rock and roll, there's something for all the family to enjoy at Chelmsford Museum.

What's more, a visit to the museum offers something extra as there is also the Essex Regiment Museum to explore at the venue, situated in award-winning Oaklands Park.

Chelmsford Museum, which began life back in 1835 when it was established by the area's philosophical society and housed inside part of Chelmsford Prison, is now packed with artefacts and information on the fascinating story of Chelmsford, from as far back as the Ice Age.

Its wide range of galleries cover everything from industry and local treasures, to domestic and community life, and fossils found throughout the south east.

A range of permanent exhibitions include The Story of Chelmsford which includes major archaeological monuments and sites in the district, and its Bright Sparks area which shows how modern industries grew in Chelmsford – the home of the world's first wireless factory, the UK's first electrical engineers and the first British manufacturer of ball and roller bearings.

Delve into the history of domestic and community life in Chelmsford with the help of a reconstructed Victorian kitchen, and information on the area's music and leisure scene, and gaze at fossils from locations across the south east as well as a collection of rocks and minerals in The Geology Room.

If you are artistic, then take a look at ceramics from the 17th and 18th centuries in their extensive display of pottery including pieces of Victorian Essex Art Pottery, which were made by Edward Bingham and his family at Castle Hedingham in North Essex, and the Chelmsford Sissies – a contemporary and decorative pot by Chelmsford-born Turner Prize winner Grayson Perry. What's more there are also 400 pieces in The Tunstall Collection of Glasses left to the museum by Frederick Tunstall in 1957, and important collections of decorative and fine arts.

Visit the Bee Room with a working hive, take a look at different kinds of British birds as well as mammals and vertebrates in the Natural Sciences exhibition, and marvel at the magnificent oak panelled interior of Oaklands House, which was one of the largest and most imposing houses in Chelmsford when it was built in 1866, and has housed the museum since 1930. The Victorian house, built by coal and timber merchant Frederick Wells, may now be smaller than it was when it was first built, as the servant's quarters were demolished between 1920 and 1930, the museum and the Essex Regiment Museum, now have extra space thanks to a purpose-built extension.

The Essex Regiment Museum looks at the traditions, stories, battles and daily lives of its soldiers and follows their fortunes during major conflicts including both World Wars and the Korean War, as well as displaying its trophies including the famous Salamanca Eagle – a Napoleonic standard captured from the French in 1812.

EXTENSION: Part of the Marconi exhibit on show at Oaklands Park Museum

It also houses a section on the Essex Yeomanry from its founding in 1794 as a volunteer cavalry formed by prominent landowners.

Alongside all this, Chelmsford Museum also offers a variety of events and activities taking place throughout the year, and up-and-coming events include a Christmas Crafts drop-in session on Saturday, December 20, from 2 to 4pm, where you can make special cards and decorations. Last entry to the event, which costs £5 for one adult and one child, and £3 for an additional child, is at 3.15pm and you can drop in or book in advance by calling 01245 605700.

It also hosts different exhibitions throughout the year and current exhibitions include an exhibition of original work by the Writtle Art Group, which runs up until January 11, 2015, which will be followed by an exhibition by The Hive Artist Studios, Chelmsford, from January 24 to March 22, 2015.

Akropolis is the height of good taste

ONE of the area's most popular Greek restaurants has attracted a growing band of fans since opening its doors more than 10 years ago and it is easy to see why.

With 25 main dishes, 28 starters, two set meals, and a variety of desserts on the menu, there is always something new to try at the Akropolis in Westcliff.

For those with a huge appetite to satisfy, Akropolis serves up a Greek meze menu every day for £20.95 per person.

The menu, which introduces diners to the Cypriot way of eating, starts with tasty dips and pitta bread, and is followed by cold starters and fish dishes, Cypriot wine sausages, smoked loin of pork and grilled goat's milk cheese.

Then it's onto the meats, and even kleftico and stifado for those looking for more.

To finish you are given a taste of Greek pastries and an array of fresh fruits.

The Akropolis Meze, available for two or more people, is ideal for parties as the menu is meant to be lingered over.

There is also a Kleftico Feast, including traditional dips and pitta bread, kleftico, Greek pastries and a platter of fresh fruits, for £18.95 per person.

The mouth-watering food is not the only Akropolis attraction – the restaurant also produces a good line in live music on most days through the week.

The restaurant, which can comfortably seat up to 60 people and has a well-stocked, fully licensed bar, can cater for everything from a quiet meal for two to birthday celebrations.

Akropolis is also the perfect setting for festive celebrations with family, friends and work colleagues this December, and it will also be open throughout the main Christmas period, including Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Eve.

Anyone interested in making a Christmas booking is urged to call for further information and to book early to avoid disappointment.

With its experienced chefs and friendly, helpful staff, Akropolis offers a top quality, value-for-money evening out.

Akropolis, which can also satisfy any special dietary needs and offers children-friendly dishes, is open seven days a week, from 5pm to midnight from Monday to Thursday, from 5pm to 1am on Friday and Saturday, and from noon to midnight on Sunday.

The Akropolis is located at 120 Station Road, Westcliff, and ample parking is available just 50 yards away, by the Cliffs Pavilion.

The buffet, which is served from 1pm to 8pm, costs just £7.95 for adults and £3.95 for children under 12, while the under-fives eat for free, making it not only outstanding value-for-money, but a great way to taste different dishes.

Wheeler's also serves an extensive a la carte menu offering a wide choice of meat, seafood and vegetable dishes, all of which are individually cooked to order by a chef who has more than 30 years' experience.

The establishment, which prides itself on being just how an Indian restaurant should be, serves authentic Indian cuisine in comfortable booths complete with candlelit tables, with magnificent décor, a well stocked bar, full disabled facilities, and a large private car park.

The restaurant, which has a takeaway service offering free home delivery, welcomes taste card members as well as organisations that want to benefit from its Charity Buffet Events, which cost just £6 per person.

Wheeler's Tandoori Restaurant, at 458 London Road, on Bread and Cheese Hill, Benfleet, is open from noon to 2pm and from 5pm to 11.30pm, from Monday to Thursday, and is open until midnight on Fridays and at weekends.

Regency is the spice of life

ONE of the largest restaurants in Essex is the perfect place to celebrate a range of occasions, including Christmas.

Regency Spice Restaurant, Lounge and Diner, in Back Lane, Rochford, will be serving both Christmas party menus, as well as taking bookings for Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Eve.

Its special five-course Christmas Day menu, served from noon to 6pm, combines traditional roast turkey with a selection of home-style Indian cuisine, for just £29.95 per person. While on Boxing Day diners can enjoy a buffet and a la carte cuisine between noon and midnight for just £11.95 for adults and £7.95 for children.

The restaurant is also well known for its Live Entertainment Evenings and Tribute Nights that are held throughout the year. Regency Spice has a range of entertainment evenings throughout December including Kaylie Hawkesworth on December 5; Kirsty Luise on December 6; Vicky Kaylor on December 12; Jade Tibbs on December 13; Abba Unique Girls on December 18; Rebecca Rae on December 19; and Lawrem Ashleigh on December 20. There will also be entertainment from Lucy Phillips on New Year's Eve.

As the festive season is popular at the restaurant, anyone interested is urged to call for further information and to book early to avoid disappointment.

Regency Spice has proved popular since opening more than three years ago, thanks to its exquisite food that looks sensational and tastes divine. Its vast menu includes a range of dishes from chef's recommendations to Regency specialities, as well as tandoori specialities, balti dishes, Nepalese and Bangladeshi specialities, Thali and Kurzi specials, Persian, chicken, meat, fresh fish and shellfish dishes, as well as Thai specialities, vegetarian options and Regency Combination Platters for two or four people.

These are complemented by a wide range of starters, rice dishes, nan breads, sundries and pickles, and desserts, as well as an extensive drinks list including a wide range of beers and wine. Its five-course Midweek Special (served Monday to Thursday), includes poppadoms, starter, main course, rice, side dish or nan bread, and tea or coffee for just £12.95. Its Business Lunch, served from noon to 2.30pm on weekdays, offers a choice of dishes for just £8.95 per person, while its Sunday Buffet, served from noon to 11.30pm, allows you to eat as much as they like from a large selection of delicious dishes for £7.95 per person, or £3.95 for under-10s.

The restaurant's owner, Tony, who has been in the catering business for more than 40 years, prides himself on his restaurant, which is a wonderful place to celebrate a range of special occasions. It has ample space for large parties, thanks to its separate function room, which is complete with dance floor, sounds, lights and smoke, as well as karaoke.

CHARITY EVENTS

The restaurant, which has full disabled access, can also host charity nights for which it will donate 50 per cent to the charity of your choice.

Regency Spice, which has a full takeaway service including free delivery, is open from noon to 2.30pm and from 5.30pm to midnight, from Monday to Saturday, and from noon to midnight on Sundays.

COUNTRYSIDE ESTATES

COUNTRYSIDE ESTATES IS RE-AFFIRMED AS RAYLEIGH & BENFLEET'S LOCAL EXPERT

Local independent estate agent, Countryside Estates from Rayleigh & Benfleet has been re-affirmed as their area's Local Expert by Relocation Agent Network.

Countryside Estates were re-affirmed at the 2014 Relocation Agent Network Conference, which took place at the Park Plaza Riverbank Hotel in Central London on Friday 14 November.

Countryside Estates were originally hand picked to be a member of Relocation Agent Network based on strict criteria such as quality of service, local knowledge and professionalism. Through its affiliation to Cartus, the premier provider of relocation services, Relocation Agent Network members help Cartus assist relocating families, offering Countryside Estates customers an additional channel of buyer when selling their property.

In addition, Relocation Agents also help their customers through their 'Referral Network', which allows Countryside Estates to help people who are looking to move out of the local area by referring them to a Relocation Agent in the location they are moving to.

The Conference day included leading business expert speakers, interactive Conference sessions and a trade exhibition. The event culminated in an evening black tie Awards Dinner hosted by acclaimed comedy actor, Stephen Mangan, best known for his role as the delusional and arrogant anaesthetist, Guy Secretan in the hit Channel 4 hospital sitcom, Green Wing. Currently he stars in the BBC 2 comedy, Episodes with Matt LeBlanc. Stephen presented awards to the night's winning estate agents, including the most coveted Agent of the Year accolade.

Relocation Agent Network Managing Director, Richard Tucker said, "We are thrilled to have re-affirmed Countryside Estates's membership with our Network. They were specially invited to join us and in our opinion, are Rayleigh & Benfleet's Local Expert for buying and selling."

ASK THE AGENT ALAN KIRKMAN

Q. A lot of agents these days seem to be using guide prices, or price ranges, or "offers in excess of" in their marketing. What are the advantages, if any?

A. The notion that there is a one-size-fits-all approach to property pricing is something of a fallacy. Much depends on the state of the market, the type of property and other factors – and it is part of the individual estate agent's skill to judge those factors and advise accordingly.

For example, you usually find the "guide price" approach – or its close relative, the "offers in the region of" idea – being employed at the upper end of the market. That's where you tend to find the one-offs, the very individual properties, which are notoriously difficult to value in the usual way because of the lack of realistic comparables. It's a lot more difficult to judge market demand for a unique property in a unique setting, than it is for a nice bog-standard 3-bed semi – so, in such cases, agents understandably have to hedge their bets.

Conversely, in the more mainstream sectors of the market, neither of the above approaches are very popular, since they can simply give the impression that the agent doesn't know what he's doing!

As for "offers in excess," some agents claim that in certain markets this approach can help generate higher levels of interest. One of its key advantages, so the argument goes, is that it tends to attract genuinely committed buyers – people who may already have found a buyer for their own property, for instance, and who are now looking at the market very seriously.

Personally, however, I'm not convinced. In my experience, this approach can be very off-putting – 1) because it clearly suggests that prospective buyers are likely to find themselves in a Dutch auction, and 2) because it just looks like greed.

Then there is price banding – and here too, I personally think this is a bit pointless. After all, human nature being what it is, why bother advertising a property at "£350,000-£400,000," when no-one wants to pay more than the lower price!

No, when all's said and done, my own feeling is that it's almost always better to go to market with a clear asking price. Then you know where you stand – and so do potential purchasers. The trick, of course, is to get that asking price right – and that's where a good agent comes in!

Alan Kirkman is a Director of both Tudor Estates in Southend and Essex TEAM part of a network of independently owned estate agents who share their instructions for the benefit of giving their client properties maximum market exposure. Alan has been an estate agent for over 32 years.

Landlord Question

WHAT ABOUT THE TENANCY DEPOSIT?

Think Property Answer

It is quite common for a deposit of an amount equivalent to between four to six weeks rent to be required to be held during the tenancy against the satisfactory performance by the tenant of all the various obligations under the tenancy agreement – but mainly, those relating to the cleanliness and condition of the property.

The relevant clauses in the tenancy agreement should set out who is to hold the deposit (e.g. agent or landlord), whether interest is to be paid or not, what the deposit can be allocated for and the end of tenancy procedures and timescales for its refund.

The best way for a tenancy deposit (bond) to be held during the tenancy is by the ARLA member agent as "stakeholder" between the parties (landlord and tenant). This means that at the end of the tenancy the agent should get the agreement of both sides before making any deductions for damage, cleaning etc.

Ideally, the ARLA agent will be signed up to the Tenancy Deposit Scheme (TDS) which means that in the event of an unresolved dispute or stalemate over the allocation of the deposit, it can be referred to the scheme for a prompt, independent, third party adjudication – so providing a resolution which is fair to both landlord and tenant.

Electric charge lights up a green milestone

By Mike Torpey

THE Renault-Nissan Alliance has celebrated a clean, green milestone with the sale of its 200,000th electric vehicle and has a leading 58 per cent market share for zero-emission cars.

In fact together, Renault and Nissan EVs have driven approximately four billion zero-emission kilometers – enough to circle the earth 100,000 times.

These figures represent 200 million litres of fuel saved, which is enough to fill about 80 Olympic-sized swimming pools, as well as a saving of 450 million kg of CO2 emissions.

The alliance actually sold its landmark EV earlier this month, four years after the launch of the world's first mass-market electric vehicle, the Nissan Leaf, which remains the best-selling electric vehicle.

From January through the first week of November so far this year, the alliance has sold 66,500 units—an increase of about 20 per cent from the same period last year.

And around two out of every three EVs sold worldwide, including Renault's two-seater urban commuter vehicle and the Nissan e-NV200 van, are from the alliance.

To capture what the first 200,000 consumers love about their electric vehicles, Renault-Nissan is launching a series of videos featuring EV owners on three continents.

"I Made the Switch" tells why people bought their electric vehicles and how switching to a zero-emission vehicle has changed their lives.

The first video features Chris Beers, a software engineer from Massachusetts, USA, an American who powers his Nissan LEAF with clean solar energy.

In the US, the alliance's biggest electric vehicle market, there are more than 750 quick chargers in operation, though Nissan is working with its dealers and charging partners to increase that number to 1,100 by mid-2015.

This year Nissan also launched its No Charge to Charge programme, which provides free access to selected charging stations for two years with the purchase or lease of a new Leaf model.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(f)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. BLUES MAKE IT FOUR IN A ROW

Southend United

Southend United 2
Northampton Town 0
Brian Jeeves reporting from Roots Hall Stadium

SOUTHEND United manager Phil Brown hailed his side's patience after a second-half penalty from Barry Corr coupled with a late David Worrall strike saw off Northampton Town at Roots Hall.

Blues went into the game off the back of three straight League Two victories and bolstered by the addition of midfielder John-Joe O'Toole, who arrived on loan from Northampton two days before. However, some sections of the Roots Hall crowd remained sceptical, believing Brown's men had struggled against weak opposition during the recent triumphs, and that the Cobblers would provide a much sterner test.

It was clear that Southend needed to produce a decent performance, as well as the right result, to convince the doubters that they are genuine promotion candidates.

Chris Wilder's Northampton arrived in south east Essex with only one win from their last five outings, and languishing in the bottom half of the table.

Brown made two changes from the team that won at Tranmere seven days ago. O'Toole was drafted in for his debut, unusually against his parent club, while striker Myles Weston returned to the starting line-up in place of Kevan Hurst who was ill.

And it was the Blues newest recruit O'Toole who almost opened the scoring, Cobblers keeper Jordan Archer parrying away his half-volley, while Jack Payne should have done better, guiding his follow-up off target.

Luke Prosser was next to try his luck, Archer was relieved to see his awkward attempt land on the roof of the net.

Barry Corr sent an effort just over after the industrious Payne had fashioned the chance, but even at an early stage of the game, exchanges were becoming disjointed with neither side able to produce any fluency.

The insipid nature of the game continued, much to the crowds' frustration. Worrall's low centre eluded a clutch of potential takers as Blues continued to display the greater threat. Nevertheless, once again, a lack of quality in the final third was hindering Southend's progress.

Just before the break Northampton passed up a glorious opportunity when the unmarked Ollie Banks arrived at the far post only to fire horribly high into the South Stand from close range. While at the other end, Michael Timlin's vicious free-kick was fisted away by Archer.

The half-time cuppa did very little to stimulate this docile affair. Kelvin Langmead headed Darren Carter's flag kick just wide as the Cobblers were first to threaten.

Blues skipper John White had the Roots Hall faithful on their feet and Archer scrambling across his goal, but his long range strike whistled into the side netting. At the other end, Cobblers leading marksman Marc Richards sent a dead ball effort from just outside the box frustratingly wayward.

Then came the moment which sparked the game into life. Archer uncharacteristically spilled Weston's deep cross, and in a desperate bid to retrieve the situation, the stricken keeper only succeeded in flooring Blues striker Corr. Referee Keith Stroud had no hesitation in pointing to the spot and giving the keeper his marching orders.

Corr thumped the resulting penalty high past substitute keeper Matt Duke, much to the relief of the home fans. The game had finally roused, and the Blues should have doubled their advantage almost immediately when Worrall was denied by Duke, this after Westgate had played him in.

Duke was then called upon to turn away Weston's curling effort as Southend looked to kill the game off.

But with little more than 10 minutes to go Blues did double their money. Weston played in the lively Worrall and the former Bury man slotted coolly past Duke for his fourth goal of the season.

Carter's late free-kick summed up the visitors afternoon, troubling the scoreboard itself more so than the controller operating it.

Blues finished the match much brighter, and fully deserved their victory.

A satisfied Brown said: "A hard fought victory. I thought again, teams are going to come here and not give you an inch on the pitch and they're going to slow the game down, that was the game plan.

"I was astounded when I got the team sheet and saw that Hackett, Toney and Mohamed were missing. I didn't have a clue what system they were going to play. But they played four midfield players and a narrow front to cater for Jack Payne.

"We've had to be patient. I think that was the key word today. When the patience was repaid, OK, it came with a bit of fortune, the keeper spilled the ball. Barry Corr has reacted best and then all of a sudden it's a penalty and a red card. They are defining moments in games.

"Leading up to that I thought it was their moment [Northampton], they were coming into the game in the second-half, and the frustration and anxiety was there for everybody to see, but I still thought we had enough quality on the field to win the game."

Timlin said: "It wasn't pretty, we didn't play as well as we should have done. But at the end of the day we needed to get the result.

"That means we're unbeaten for November, a huge improvement since October and obviously a great improvement since the Chester game."

He added: "We know it wasn't great football for the fans to watch, especially at home, we know we need to be playing a lot better football. But at the moment we need to be making sure we get the results. We didn't have the best of starts to the season. Hopefully, we can maintain that, it's all about getting results."

Non-league round-up

Concord flying high

by Brian Jeeves

CONCORD Rangers showed no signs of an FA Cup hangover after thrashing Boreham Wood 4-0 at the Aspect Arena in the FA Trophy.

Goals from Tony Stokes, Lewis Taaffe, Joe Gardner and James White secured a memorable triumph over a Boreham Wood team who are top of the Vanarama Conference South Division.

The Beach Boys went into the game without the services of frontman Jordan Chiedozie, this after Sky Bet League Two outfit Cambridge United snapped up the 20-year-old on an 18-month contract.

But it was the end of the Trophy adventure for Chelmsford City who lost a thrilling encounter at Bishop's Cleeve by four goals to three.

Michael Cheek, Southend United loanee Jason Williams and Yado Mambo were the Clarets scorers, this after they had trailed 4-0 with 20 minutes remaining.

In the Conference Premier Division, a Joe McNerney goal on the hour was enough to condemn Braintree Town to a disappointing defeat at high-flying Woking.

There was plenty of action in the Ryman League. In the Premier Division, Witham Town won 4-1 against Bury Town, but it wasn't such good news for Grays Athletic who crashed 3-0 at Margate. Billericay Town's scheduled game with Leiston at New Lodge fell foul of the wet weather.

In Division One North, Robbie Rees (2) and Sam Bantick found the net as Brentwood Town saw off Great Wakering Rovers by three goals to nil, while a brace from Harry Cook helped Tilbury to a 2-0 win over bottom of the table Burnham Ramblers.

Aveley picked up the points with a 3-1 success over Dereham Town. Theo Ola, Jack Stevenson and Tyler Devlin netted for the home side, and Joe Bricknell was on target for Barkingside who drew 1-1 at Maldon & Tiptree.

Elsewhere Romford and Harlow Town shared the spoils in a 2-2 draw.

In the Essex Senior League, Clapton led the way, hammering Sawbridge-worth Town 4-0 at the Old Spotted Dog. Barking won an entertaining affair against struggling Southend Manor by the odd goal in five, and FC Romania saw off Sporting Bengal United 3-1.

In the other game, Waltham Forest went down 3-2 at home to Greenhouse London.

The pick of the action in the ProKit Essex Olympian League saw Wadham Lodge win a one-sided Premier Division encounter at Southminster St Leonards by six goals to one.

And there were plenty of goals in Senior Division One.

Ongar Town won a thriller at Canning Town 6-5, while rampant Leigh Ramblers hammered Westhamians 8-2. White Ensign picked up a valuable point from a 2-2 draw with Shenfield AFC.
